Carlson, Schulz Participate In Model U. N. Initial Action

By JUDY McVEY
Special to the Kaimin

EUGENE, Ore.—John Carlson, chairman of the Congo Republic (Brazzaville), pulled dissenting factions together for the first Afro-Asian caucus at the Model United Nations.

Taking the initiative, Carlson ruled that he would act as temporary chairman until a permanent chairman was elected. He informed the group that "in the meanwhile, we will meet under Carlson's Rules of Order."

When the Asian nations made moves to create their own caucus, Carlson ruled that all Asian nations wishing to attend the African caucus were welcome. By his move, the two large blocs were held together.

Carlson was nominated along with four others for the chairmanship of the caucus. He yielded the vote of the Republic of the Congo to Liberia, which was accorded the chairmanship by the majority of the nations represented.

In committee meetings John

Schulz, representing the Republic of Chad, was elected rapporteur for the third committee in Chad, a position considered advantageous to the African nation.

Thursday the third committee passed three resolutions giving aid to underdeveloped nations, all of which were introduced by Chad and the Congo (Brazzaville). The Congo (Brazzaville) and Chad also co-sponsored a resolution on apartheid in the Union of South Africa which passed in the special political committee. The resolution recommended non-economic sanctions and the withdrawal of ambassadors of member nations from the Union of South Africa.

All resolutions passed in committee sessions will be submitted at the plenary session of the General Assembly. Member nations battled in committee all Thursday with only short breaks. Some were unable to pass more than a single resolution.

During the day the credentials of Stanford University, which represents Burma and Japan, were challenged. The move was made to block a drive for power on the part of Stanford. Stanford was called from meetings and will be unable to return until its credentials are considered.

MSU delegates attending the Model U.N. sessions are Ali Al-Saadi, Joan Elder, Virginia Ragland, Carol Cooper, Allan Jeska, Paula Simmons, Eva Neisser, Kathy Jones, Sandra Orr, Dorothy McBride, Judy McVey, Schulz and Carlson.

Albert C. Stillson, assistant professor of political science, is acting as adviser to the group.

LEWIS ADVISES HONORARY

George Lewis, assistant professor of music, is the new faculty advisor of Delta Theta, local chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, national music honorary fraternity.

In addition to working as an assistant professor of voice, Mr. Lewis is assistant director of Opera Workshop and director of the University Congregational Church choir.

CB Places Store Proposal On General Election Ballot

Central Board last night put on the ASMSU general election ballot a proposal which, if passed, would make all registered students members of the Associated Students' Store Corporation.

The store became incorporated this year to keep the University administration from establishing store policy. If the students vote to become members of the corporation, they will be able to influence policies of the Store Board. Uncommitted store profits will be used for campus activities only.

In other action, Paul Ulrich, president of ASMSU, read a letter from Dean Andrew Cogswell expressing regret at Central Board's decision not to support the Student Affairs Council. The council, with representatives from leading organizations, is being established to discuss students' social problems.

Sue Cadwell, chairman of Public Relations Committee, reported that final arrangements were being made for the production of a movie telling about the MSU campus. She also said the Radio-Television Committee is sending out spot films about different aspects of University life.

Bob Morgenstern, chairman of Activities Board, reported that the net income from the Brothers Four performance was $750. He expressed hope for a better turnout at the June Christy concert and dance May 1. He also said the Student Union Games Room, located in the Cascade Room, will start operations this weekend. It will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

CB Acknowledges Eastern Invitation To Turtle Running

In one of the more serious moments at Central Board last night, Paul Ulrich, ASMSU president, read a letter from the University of Detroit.

The letter announced a May 1 turtle race and invited MSU to enter. To do so, the University must send one turtle and one dollar. Central Board decided to send a contestant, and will hold elimination trials if enough interested turtles apply.

Douglas Grimm was given the responsibility of providing the traveling turtle with appropriate decorations.

USSR To Cheer Space Hero

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow yesterday prepared a hero's welcome for Yuri Gagarin as the world's first space man indicated he was ready to make another flight into orbit if called upon.

The cosmonaut, 27, was toasted throughout the Soviet Union amid indications that ceremonies hailing him for his conquest of space might be held in the capital today.

Government spokesmen adopted their customary tight-lipped silence, but official Soviet photographers said they hoped to be able to make new pictures today of the Soviet Union's new pin-up boy.

SENATOR WANTS INCREASE IN U.S. SPACE PROGRAM

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Victor Anfuso, D-N.Y., a member of the House Space Committee, yesterday called for a congressional investigation of the nation's man-in-space program.

proved Dale Graff as head photographer for Sentinel and Diane Boehler as his assistant, Jack Cogswell, chairman, reported.

Leslie Fiedler, Ludvig Browman and Jacob Vinocur have been scheduled as speakers for Leadership Camp, April 28-30.

John Ulvila, ASMSU manager, presented the tentative budget for 1961-62. He noted that there will be two more Central Board meetings before the budget is accepted. He said anyone interested in studying the budget may obtain a copy from him.

A motion was also passed which will allow the Kaimin to use its $500 reserve fund to purchase a new camera. Frank Walsh, Kaimin editor, pointed out that buying a new camera would make repair costs unnecessary, and thereby allow the fund to build up.

The last order of business was to set April 30 as the date for the Central Board banquet.

Awards Given To Foresters

Four scholarships to outstanding forestry students were presented at the annual awards meeting of the Forestry Club by Ross A. Williams, dean of forestry.

The awards went to Robert W. Bosworth, Silver City, N.M.; John P. Inman, Deer Lodge, Mont.; John Stephenson, Davidville, Pa.; and James F. Wilson, Plains, Mont.

Bosworth, a junior, received the Silas Thompson Scholarship. He maintained a 3.5 grade point average in his major, forest management, and is a member of the Montana Druids and the Xi Sigma Pi. He is the 10th student to receive this award.

Inman, a junior, won the Alumni Memorial Forestry Award. He has maintained a grade point average of 3.6. He is majoring in range management and is also a member of the Druids and the Xi Sigma Pi. This award has been presented annually since 1947.

Stephenson, a junior, won the School of Forestry Loan Fund Scholarship. He is majoring in forest utilization and is a member of the Montana Druids. He is the third student to receive this award established in 1959.

Wilson, a sophomore, received the Quesenberry Award. He has a 3.3 grade point average and is a graduate from the Plains High School.

Adams, Finney, Ulvila Vie for Presidency

Central Board last night approved 22 of 24 applicants for ASMSU offices for 1961-62. Two applications are pending and must be re-checked to see if transfer credit have been accepted at face value. Applicants are Ray Young, the only applicant for business manager and Mack Hamlin, applicant for junior delegates to Central Board.

Candidates for president are

Denis Adams, junior of Winnett, majoring in Bus. Ad.; Wayne Finney, junior of Hamilton, majoring in English; John Ulvila, junior of Red Lodge, majoring in Physics.

Joe Reber and John Carlson are candidates for vice president.

Secretary candidates are Betty Leuthold and Myrna Eyerly.

Larry Juelfs is the only candidate for judicial council chairman.

Senior delegate candidates for Central Board are Dale Harr, Diane Mossey, Bari Lynn Bertelson, Dick Austin, Bob Sankovich.

Dan Bieri is store board candidate for a one-year term.

Behind the Podium

The Public Exercises and Visiting Lectures Committee, we believe, deserves commendation.

There are many hard-working and dedicated people in ASMSU and faculty committees who sacrifice their time (or grades) to perform the duties that MSU consciously or unconsciously expects of them.

Perhaps, therefore, it isn't fair to slight one committee over any other. However, some very far reaching results have come out of the Public Exercises and Visiting Lecturers that could be deemed more important than work turned out by other committees.

The Public Exercises and Visiting Lecturers Committee has brought outstanding and important men of America to the MSU campus with the intention of enlightening student education.

Men such as Arthur Schlesinger Jr. who is now a special assistant to President Kennedy; Vance Packard, American critic; and Russell Kirk, author of "Conservative Mind," are a few of the distinguished men who have spoken on campus.

Next year will see Marquis Childs, Ogden Nash and Sen. Barry Goldwater among others stand before students and faculty audiences introducing their ideas and experiences, answering questions and formulating a background for a broad, liberal, well-informed education to those who have the ambition to seek it.

And Still Another

The film, "Operation Abolition" which some say glorified the House Un-American Activities Committee and branded many students as dupes of Communism, has been withdrawn by Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara.

Many critics of the film have said that the film is based on distorted versions of the riotous demonstrations held last year when the Un-American Activities sub-committee held a hearing in San Francisco.

McNamara said he had directed that "Operation Abolition" be withdrawn because the department was making its own training film on the relationship between communism and youth not only in the United States, but also around the world.

If the reaction to "Operation Abolition" is any indication of student interest about communism and the way the government handles it, this new film cannot come soon enough.

Step in the Right Direction

Possibly one of the oldest existing organizations on campus is the Newman. This organization was formed right after the University was founded. It first came under the direction of the Jesuit priests of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church and in 1922, with the formation of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, the Newman fell under its jurisdiction.

Through the years, the Newman has been active on campus to help the Catholic students of MSU. On March 3 of this year, the Newman purchased the Law House from the University to use as a Newman Center.

With the additional facilities of the Newman Center, the Newman will be able to better fulfill its purpose of intellectual, religious, and social activities for its members.

The additional facilities that the Newman Center will offer are a Catholic library, a meeting place for study groups, a continuing use of the Law House to provide living facilities for 23 Catholic men students, and property for a chapel in the far future.

This, we feel, is a step in the right direction for religious organizations on campus.

We hope that the students and MSU as a whole will greet the Newman Center with a welcoming hand at its every turn.

Past President Speaks on IFC Decision

To the Kaimin:

In reference to the letter in Wednesday's Kaimin from some of our more responsible student leaders about Interscholastic lawn displays, I would like to make a few comments.

In the middle of February this year it was brought to my attention by several fraternity presidents that they were questioning the value of lawn displays and would like to consider discontinuance by Interfraternity Council. I talked with these men and other fraternity men and found that there was a consensus. I proceeded to personally contact Jack Griffith, Traditions Board chairman, and informally talked with Paul Ulrich, president of ASMSU, on the matter. I stressed the seriousness of the matter and urged for a meeting to discuss the matter.

Brad Nickle, the present I.F.C. president, invited Jack Griffith to an Interfraternity Council meeting where the matter was formally presented to him. However, Traditions Board considered no changes in their plans and disregarded the feelings of I.F.C. In my mind these responsible student leaders failed to meet the problem when it faced them and are now falling back on face-saving devices by discrediting Interfraternity Council to cover for their own mistakes.

I and many others feel that conditions have changed since these lawn displays were first initiated and today they play only a minor part in Interscholastic Weekend. Besides the lawn displays fraternity men and women take part in the Newman Song Fest, and all fraternity men and women join these high school students at dinner in front of the library steps on Saturday evening and provide entertainment for them. This year dorm facilities will not be available for these high school students, therefore, some fraternities will be supplying room for some of these high school students.

A few of the reasons for Interfraternity Council's decision that lawn displays have become outmoded are (1) the proximity of fraternity houses are such that two are adjacent or close to the campus to make easy visitation possible, (2) the cost of materials to build good lawn displays are extremely expensive ($35-$50), materials that for the most part are thrown away the next day, (3) The reward for our efforts has been almost negligible, except for inexpensive trophies which cost our student government about $3.00 apiece, and we have received no letters of appreciation, (4) the fire hazard is extremely high to our houses, two years ago the Delta Gamma display was set on fire, (5) the theme ("Broadway Shows") is not conducive to bring students to the University, (6) the lawn displays defeat exactly what they are trying to accomplish to present the University experience to these high school students.

During Interscholastic weekend, I feel that the Student Government should have as its ultimate aim to provide contact between these high school students and the professors and students at the University. This contact will give these high school students their University experience, not superficial displays. I say it is high time we throw off these shackles of tradition and become rational, practical, and responsible men and women.

Let's rub elbows with these high school students and give them a good University experience — a meeting of minds, not lawn displays.

'Montana Asininus' Just Isn't Correct

To the Kaimin:

Dear Students-Who-Write-to-the Kaimin:

Say what you like, by all means, about censorship, academic freedom and all the rest of it. But in the name of Virgil, Milton and other great Latinists, at least get your adjective endings straight before bursting into Latin. Such malformations as "montana asininus" curdle the blood!

While on this subject, I should like to add that a "universitas," in its original meaning, was a union of masters and scholars under a charter from the Church entitling its members to certain rights and privileges. In other words, a "universitas" or "studium generale" was simply an academic guild, corresponding to the craft guilds; it met the needs for organization among scholarly people just as did the craft guilds among artisans and laborers.

The "jus ubique docendi" awarded to graduates of the early universities — when the curriculum everywhere was exactly the same (and mostly Aristotle) — was a privilege greatly sought after and highly cherished.

As for academic freedom, Stringfellow Barr's novel, "Strictly Academic," is a witty and amusing commentary which presents an answer or two.

Twelve Sponsors Have Moved Into Women's Dorm

Twelve new junior sponsors have been chosen and are living in the freshman women's dormitory this quarter.

They are Barbara Boorman, Diane Boyer, Joyce Christensen, Alice Curdy, Helen Dwelle, Autumn Holtz, Kathy Johnson, Linda Kammerzell, Patsy McClain, Carol Nelson, Sandra Swank and Karen Upshaw.

The women are living in the dorm in order to become acquainted with their duties. They will receive a ten-week orientation of dormitory rules and University services.

Pre-Med Officers Discuss WICHE

This year's officers for Pre-Med Club are Gary Severson, president; John Collins, vice president; and David Krekula, secretary-treasurer.

Gordon Castle, professor of zoology, spoke to the group on the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education, an organization consisting of colleges in 13 western states.

Purpose of WICHE is to give financial aid to students entering professional schools from states that do not have a curriculum in which they are interested. Mr. Castle is the Montana representative to the organization.

Students who took the medical and dental aptitude tests discussed them at the meeting, Krekula said.

MSU Coed Will End Reign As Miss Wool of America

Patti Jo Shaw, 1960-61 Miss Wool of America, has returned to the MSU campus to resume her studies.

Miss Shaw was the Montana candidate in the 1960-61 Miss Wool Pageant and was crowned Miss Wool of America in San Angelo, Texas, May 14, 1960.

With the title, Miss Wool of America, was a trip to Europe, a tour of the United States, and a complete $15,000 woolen wardrobe.

After winning the crown, she returned to MSU to finish spring quarter, 1960. With the completion of final exams, she traveled to New York and from there to Madrid, Spain, for 10 days.

While in Spain, Miss Shaw appeared in the MGM movie, "King of Kings," starring Jeff Hunter, Rita Gam, and Robert Ryan.

Her movie debut behind her, she returned to New York for two months. There she was fitted by leading fashion designers for her woolen wardrobe, courtesy of Woolens and Worsteds of America, the sponsor of her trip.

Floating in Space

Cosmonaut Describes Feelings While Orbiting Around Earth

MOSCOW (AP)—When you go orbiting around the earth, says Yuri A. Gagarin, you float above your chair in the space ship. The sun blazes "tens of times brighter than here on earth."

The 27-year-old pilot gave this account to the Soviet news agency Tass somewhere in the Soviet interior Thursday as Premier Khrushchev prepared a tremendous welcome for him today in this excited capital. Salutes in the astronaut's honor will roar out all over the Soviet Union.

Tass did not say how he stood up under the stresses of acceleration at blastoff. Dogs shot into space were flattened to the floor and showed great alarm.

Gagarin said he came smoothly through the next two stages, the strange sensation of weightlessness and the return of gravity on the descent, Tass reported.

In fact, he said he found it easier to do everything when the tug of gravitation ceased on the second stage of his flight into an orbit that took him around the earth in 89 minutes, Tass said.

"This is quite natural," he told Tass. "One's legs and arms weigh nothing. Objects float in the cabin. Neither did I myself sit in the chair as I did before that, but hung in midair. While in the state of weightlessness, I ate and drank and everything occurred just as it does here on earth."

"I even worked in that condition, wrote, jotting down by observations. My handwriting did not change although the hand does not weigh anything. Only I had to hold the notebook. Otherwise, it would float away. I maintained communications over different channels and tapped the telegraph key."

The state of weightlessness arises when the outward thrust of a speeding space vehicle strikes a balance with the earth's gravi-

Health Service Reports Spring Fever Epidemic

Other than several serious cases of spring fever, the MSU health service reports very little activity, according to Mrs. W. R. Finley, head nurse.

Last quarter the health service reported 75 cases of flu and eight cases of pneumonia.

The skiing injuries were lower than previous years, Mrs. Finley said.

The health service asks students with minor afflictions to drop in during the week and Saturday morning rather than Saturday afternoon or Sunday because doctors are only on emergency call at this time.

tational pull. That balance of forces also keeps the vehicle in orbit.

"During the flight, I succeeded for the first time in seeing with my own eyes the ball shape form of the earth. I must say the view of the horizon is unusual and very beautiful."

"It is possible to see the unusual transition from the light surface of the earth to the completely black skies. There is a very narrow band which makes the transition from the color of the horizon to the blackness of the skies. The strip is a delicate blue color."

On the sun-drenched side of the earth, Gargarin could plainly see the majestic contours of continents, islands, great rivers, and lakes spread out in panorama below, Tass said.

Through the hour and 48 minutes from blastoff to landing, the astronaut said, "I was entirely concentrated on carrying out the flight's program. There was a lot of work. The entire flight meant work."

Gagarin told Tass he could have stayed aloft considerably longer.

Tass found Gagarin cheerful and intent on flying once more into space. A medical team examined him and one doctor said Gagarin is feeling good, "one could even say excellent."

"I would like to visit Venus to see what she has under her clouds. I would like to see Mars and see whether it has canals or not. The moon is not a very distant neighbor of ours and I think it will not take long to fly to the moon," he told Tass.

Khrushchev promised Gagarin a great welcome when he arrives from the interior, and preparations were in full blast.

Millions of Russians from the capital and the suburbs will line the parade route from the airport to Red Square in the heart of the city.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Soviet publications came up with "cosmonaut" Wednesday to describe the space man.

That combines "cosmos" with a syllable from "astronaut."

Even Profs Pedal

Look, Ma, Bicycles Come Back As Status Symbols on Campus

By PATTI JO SHAW

"But you'll look sweet upon the seat, of a bicycle built for two."

These familiar words to "Daisy" have recently taken on new dimension at MSU where bicycles have become the latest mode of transportation.

Student models range from shiny new foreign makes to the conventional thick-tired American variety. Faculty members have a well weathered collection, which indicate the ability of the faculty to follow current "ins" on college campuses.

Missoula's Chief of Police was swamped by calls this week from coeds inquiring about the department's frequent sale of bicycles. About 60 students heard a radio advertisement about the sale, and each wanted one reserved for himself.

One assistant at the sale remarked, "My kid would cry if I bought one of those for him. They're falling apart. Those college kids are nuts!"

Secondhand stores, brothers, sisters and parents have found themselves to be a vital source of the latest thing.

One student was heard to remark, "If I asked my dad for a new bike, he'd be so shocked he'd probably buy me two."

Another student was having a difficult time convincing her mother that a bicycle was a desperate necessity this quarter. "Why can't I have Janet's bicycle, she never rides it. Mother, anybody that's anybody has got a bicycle."

Bicyclists are seen pedaling around the oval, down University Avenue, and downtown. But perhaps the most unique bicycle incident occurred just this week. Seven bicycles were parked in front of one of the best-known business establishments downtown. A note, which was attached to one read, "Don't worry, my owner is 21."

Although bicycles are a new look here at MSU, they have been accepted necessities at most eastern schools and larger college campuses for a number of years.

"A rusty bicycle and dirty tennis shoes are status symbols here at Smith," said a Smith student in a recent magazine interview.

Untrue to form, this current college trend is economical.

Parents—take note, act immediately, this may be the first and last sensible step your children will ever take.

Locker Room Chatter

By TOM FLAHERTY

Last weekend, two Montana sports columnists suggested that Montana State University get out of the Skyline Conference.

Gordie Spear, in his "Spearmintin' with Sports" column in the Miles City Star, suggested that Montana not only get out, but Montana State College be recommended for the vacancy.

Bob Gilluly of the Great Falls Tribune wrote in his "Stop the Clock" column: "We think it's high time the Grizzlies get out of the Skyline Conference while they can escape with their skins."

Spear said that MSU President H. K. Newburn's athletic de-emphasis program "will eventually be closer to disintegration."

Gilluly commented, "There's just no pretending that Montana will be able to compete in the Skyline in the next two or three years, despite the misleading success of the past season."

After the Montana-Denver basketball game in Denver this winter, Paul Brechler, Skyline Commissioner, told this reporter that Montana is a team in good standing in the Skyline Conference as are all current members including Denver.

Brechler said that Montana has been an asset to the conference in past seasons. Brechler especially noted the 1961 MSU football team.

Walter C. Schwank, recently appointed Director of Health, Physical Education and Athletics at Montana State University, stated that he likes the Skyline Conference and hopes Montana can remain in the conference.

Schwank terms the Skyline an excellent conference.

He said that in order to make Montana's new athletic policy work effectively, the University must gain the interest of Montana high school students and get them to attend the University.

Schwank does believe that the policy can be made to work effectively.

It cannot be denied that Montana does have a problem.

Spear's comment would lead one to believe that Montana State has succeeded where Montana has failed. The problem is not that Montana has failed, but that the University has not been willing to spend the amount of money on athletics that MSC has.

The University must prove that it can compete successfully in the Skyline after the new policy goes into effect next fall.

The answer will not be known next year or the year after. We probably will have to wait until the policy has been in effect for about four years before we know how it will affect the University's success in the Skyline.

The success of the new program will depend on the University's success in getting Montana athletes to attend the University. The out-of-state athlete will probably become a thing of the past.

We must remember, however, that the University did compete quite successfully this past year relying mainly on Montana athletes in both basketball and football.

The 1960-61 basketball team had only three out-of-state members, and the 1960 football roster contained only 17 out-of-state names.

Another approach to the problem of acquiring athletes would be to persuade students already enrolled in the University to turn out for varsity sports. There must be a few standouts in the intramural leagues capable of winning positions on varsity squads.

'Tips, Redskins Tangle Today On University of Utah Diamond

Montana's baseball team moves into Skyline Conference play in Salt Lake City today against the University of Utah, last year's conference champions.

MSU will play a doubleheader against the Utes.

The Grizzlies, hampered by bad weather during pre-season practice, take a 2 and 5 record into their conference opener. Last season the Montana players won five and lost seven in the Western Division of the conference.

Before leaving for Utah, Hal Sherbeck, MSU coach, said that the damp weather and lack of sunshine had ruined Montana's pre-conference practice drills.

After the series with Utah the Grizzlies will play double-headers with Brigham Young University and Utah State University before returning to Missoula April 23.

Utah's sophomore-laden team brings a 3 and 9 record into the MSU game.

The Utah roster listed 24 players and 11 of them are sophomores. Pres Summerhays, Ute coach, has seven seniors and six juniors back with the club, but only six are lettermen.

Utah successfully opened defense of its Skyline baseball crown with a pair of losses to BYU earlier this week. Brigham Young dumped the Utes 6 to 4 and 9 to 2.

Coach Summerhays has hinted that he may make some changes in his starting lineup for the Montana game, but Harold Warfle and Gary Anderson are the likely starting pitchers for Utah.

Mr. Sherbeck had not decided on the Grizzlies' starting lineups before the team left, but he said that he planned on using his entire pitching staff on the trip.

After the series with Utah the Montana nine is scheduled to meet Brigham Young April 18.

BYU has an 11 and 6 record this season, and there is good reason to believe that the Cougars will improve that record. BYU's hitters gave an exhibition of power in the series against Utah, collecting a total of 21 hits in the two games.

The last stop for Montana will be a two-game stand against Utah State April 21. USU had trouble winning in the Skyline last year, the team finished with a 1 and 11 record, but the Aggies may find added strength in a group of transfer students who are on the USU roster this season.

Montana returns to Missoula after the BYU games, and the Grizzlies open at home May 5 against Utah.

Bronc Busters Set for Rodeo

MSU wranglers are shaking the dust out of their gear in preparation for the approaching rodeo season.

The probable starting team, according to Duane Ferdinand, rodeo club president, will include Mike Lesnik, bull riding, bareback riding; Dan Clark, bull riding, bareback riding, steer wrestling; Gene Taber, saddle bronc riding; Gene Myllymaki, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling; Bob Wiseman, bareback riding, bull riding; and Duane Ferdinand, calf roping, bareback riding.

The first rodeo of the season will be at Bozeman April 21 and 22. This year's team appears to be the best in years due to experienced members.

The MSU rodeo club, under the auspices of the American Collegiate Rodeo Association, will hold their Annual Intercollegiate Rodeo at the Missoula Fairgrounds April 29 and 30, Ferdinand said.

GRIZZLY WEIGHT MAN—Montana victories in the shotput and and discus events this year depend largely on the powers of sophomore Harley Lewis. Lewis set the MSU freshman record last year with a toss of 50 feet, 7 inches.

Track Team Meets BYU In First Test of Season

MSU's track team gets its first test of the season tomorrow against a strong aggregation of visiting cindermen from Brigham Young University.

The meet will open at 1:30 p.m. on Dornblaser Field.

Grizzly Coach Harry Adams will have 26 MSU track and field representatives on hand to meet the BYU Cougars. Adams plans on sending his men through a light workout this afternoon in final preparation for the meet. The Grizzlies have been practicing for three weeks.

Brigham Young will have the advantage in meet experience Saturday.

BYU has already participated in one Skyline meet, against the University of New Mexico, and in two non-conference meets this spring. The Cougars also took part in a pair of indoor practice meets early in March.

Brigham Young is looking for its seventh straight Skyline track crown this season and the Cougars are expected to come close to that mark even though they lost their three earlier meets.

Montana's Grizzlies placed fifth in the Skyline championship and third in the Western Division meet in 1960.

Adams said that he expects the Grizzlies to push BYU for points in the track events, but he did not believe that Montana will have much power in the field events.

The Grizzly Coach said that he expects the team to do well in the middle distances, particularly in the quarter mile.

Jim Grasky has been setting the pace in the 440-yard dash. Grasky recorded a time of 49.5 seconds during the last MSU time trials.

BYU will send Guy DeHart against the Montana quarter-mile men tomorrow. DeHart placed second in the 440 at the conference meet last year, and he holds the Western Division record at 4.7 seconds.

The Grizzlies also have scoring potential in their half mile and mile runners. Phil Dwight and freshman Larry Jakub anchor the half-mile team. Jakub has the best time to date with a 1:58.7.

Gary Wojtowick and Glynn DeVries carry the weight for Montana in the mile. Wojtowick took the event at the Skyline championship last year.

Montana's power in the 100-yard dash, Pat Dodson, will compete Saturday, but Dodson missed practice last week because of a knee injury and it is doubtful that he will be at his best Saturday.

BYU should have strong participants in all of the field events, but Montana will have a chance to pick up points in the shotput. Harley Lewis leads the Grizzlies in the shotput. Lewis sent the shot past the 50-foot mark in trials last week.

Doncelles Defeat Scourge In A League Softball Game

The Doncelles, aided by two big innings, dumped Scourge 12 to 7 in A League softball yesterday.

Scourge jumped to an early lead with three runs in the first inning on only one hit, but the Doncelles piled up four runs in the second inning and five runs in the fifth to add to their single runs in the first, third and fourth innings.

Scourge scored one run in both the second and fifth innings and two in the fourth but was unable to match scores with the Doncelles after the second inning.

The Doncelles used eight hits in scoring their 12 runs, and Scourge piled up eight hits for its seven runs.

Paul Miller was the winning pitcher, and Ron Fenex was the loser.

RX came from behind in the last inning to beat Elrod 19 to 17 in a game filled with hits, errors and walks.

RX was on the low side of a 17 to 15 score going into the last inning, but a walk, fielder's choice and a single contributed one run and set the stage for a home run with two men on base by pitcher Pete Davis.

Elrod led until the game-winning home run by the RX pitcher in the fifth inning.

Elrod piled up 17 hits during the contest, and RX collected only nine hits but placed 17 men on base by walks and errors.

Pete Davis was the winning pitcher, and Hank Manz was the loser. Elrod used four pitchers during the game.

The Foresters dumped Whitefish 15 to 14 in another game that was not decided until the last half of the final inning.

Both teams scored four runs in the first three innings, but Whitefish pushed four runs across the plate in the fourth.

The Foresters came back with five runs in the last half of the fourth inning, but saw their lead fall in the top of the fifth when Whitefish scored six runs.

The Foresters went into the final inning trailing 14 to 9 but equaled Whitefish's six runs in the top half of that inning to win 15 to 14. The winning run scored when relief pitcher Larry Pommer walked the final Forester batter with the bases loaded.

Bob Jensen was the winning pitcher, and Skip Meyer was charged with the loss.

In the other game scheduled for yesterday afternoon the Untouchables forfeited to Full House.

All persons who are going to turn out for spring football drills should pick up equipment Monday at the Field House, according to Ray Jenkins, head football coach.
Spring practice will begin Thursday, Jenkins added.
